MANA'O

Traditionally, the kilo i'a was an expert of fish and marine life. He studied the behaviors and movements of i'a. The kilo stood at a high point of land overlooking the ocean to watch for an expected school of fish and steered the fishermen in the school's direction. The success of surrounding the school was entirely up to the kilo.

A MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Aloha Friends,

Fall is upon us, and I am excited to share some wonderful updates with you! We recently held our first ever Sunset Yoga event, featuring an exclusive after-hours tour of the Aquarium. A special mahalo to Live Exhibits team member Kalene Rogers for leading such an insightful tour, and Yoga Instructor Stephanie Marrack for generously donating her time to create an unforgettable experience for our members.

As we look ahead, we have an exciting lineup of Fall events planned for you. Our Tim Guard Distinguished Lecture Series (DLS) will be back, featuring inspiring speakers who will be sharing their research, conservation efforts, and passion for Hawai'i's marine life.

We're also eagerly anticipating our Members' Night Halloween event, a fun-filled evening dedicated to celebrating you—our valued members. We hope you'll also join us for our Annual Meeting, where we'll reflect on the past year and share our vision for the future of the Waikiki Aquarium.

In addition to these events, we have partnered with local artists throughout 2024 to create our Artists in Residence program. This partnership, led by Tamara Moan and Denise Karabinus, not only allows our community to express their creativity, but helps educate them about Pacific marine life while feeling more connected to our beloved Aquarium residents.

As we look towards the future, we would love to hear from you! If there are events or programs you would like to see at the Aquarium, please don't hesitate to share your ideas with us. Your feedback is invaluable as we strive to make the Waikiki Aquarium a place of inspiration, education, and community connection.

Mahalo Nui Loa,

Elizabeth Churchill

BOARD SPOTLIGHT

DIRK YOSHIZAWA

Dirk has been a dedicated member of the FOWA Board since 2012. Professionally, Dirk serves as Bank of Hawaii's Senior Executive Vice President & Co-Lead of Commercial Banking Group.

He is passionate about contributing to the conservation of Hawai'i's oceans and wants to ensure that future generations have a place to learn about our unique Pacific marine life and understand the importance of its preservation.

What Dirk loves most about the Waikiki Aquarium is witnessing the excitement and wonder of young learners and enthusiasts who participate in its educational programs and explore its exhibits. He views the Aquarium as an exceptional educational resource that provides hands-on learning experiences, sparking each child's imagination and nurturing their curiosity about marine life.

When asked about his favorite marine animal, Dirk mentioned his fascination with the octopus. He is interested by its mastery of camouflage, intelligence, and defense mechanisms.

A MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR AQUARIUM UPGRADES

With Aquarium visitorship in a low owing to the shoulder season for travel, the Aquarium is using this opportunity to begin long-planned upgrades to its exhibits.

Foremost among these is a new jellyfish gallery, which will be completed around mid-December. Featuring a greater diversity of jellyfish species and more exhibits and educational insights, we are confident that this will prove a favorite among visitors, building upon the popularity of the existing jellyfish exhibit.

Additionally, in advance of his return in 2025, the home of KP2/Hoa, our Hawaiian monk seal, will undergo a significant refurbishment, which is already underway. Exactly when he will return is still unknown, but will occur after the loud noise and vibrations of the construction related to the injection well project has dissipated.

And at the same time, construction of a new, expanded Edge of the Reef exhibit will take place, to replace the existing exhibit which will be sacrificed as part of the injection well project. With a larger exhibit area, greater depth, more fishes, and with additional education stations, this new exhibit will display Hawai'i's marine inshore reefs in a more-realistic habitat than previously existed.

So bear with us as these exciting changes take place over the coming year and we move towards an upgraded Waikiki Aquarium.

Mahalo Nui Loa,

Dr. Andrew Rossiter
Director, Waikiki Aquarium

STAFF SPOTLIGHT KALENE ROGERS Syngnathids Aquarist

Originally from Honolulu, Hawai'i, Kalene Rogers' love for marine life began at a young age. Tide pooling around the Makapu'u area sparked her fascination with the ocean's diverse creatures, and she found snorkeling to be far more thrilling than surfing. This early passion led her to pursue a career dedicated to marine life.

Kalene joined the Waikiki Aquarium team in 2018, starting as a volunteer before moving to a front desk position where she remained until 2020. Later that year, she became part of the Live Exhibits team and is currently the Syngnathids Aquarist. She cares for the Aquarium's seahorses, seadragons, and pipefish—feeding them, maintaining their tanks, addressing health issues, and enhancing their exhibits through redesigns and new additions.

While she loves working with seahorses, her favorite marine animal is the pufferfish because of its unique traits.

MAKING WAVES! Waikīkī Aquarium's Volunteer Spotlight

WAIKĪKĪ AQUARIUM CELEBRATES PLASTIC FREE JULY

On Saturday, July 20, 2024, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m., dedicated volunteers gathered to celebrate Plastic Free July by removing over 60 lbs of microplastics and litter at Sherwood Beach. Plastic Free July is a global initiative aimed at reducing plastic use and raising awareness about its environmental impact. During the event, participants learned about the effects of plastic pollution on marine ecosystems. Microplastics found at this cleanup were then upcycled into crafts at an educational table at the Waikīkī Aquarium.

For more information about beach cleanups, visit our website:
www.waikikiaquarium.org/interact/special-events/cleanups/

DEB LEE

Live Exhibits General Aquarist Assistant Volunteer

Dr. Deborah (Deb) Lee, a pediatric neurologist with a passion for marine life, has been a dedicated volunteer at the Waikīkī Aquarium since 2019. Although her professional journey took her far from the ocean, her love for marine biology has found a fulfilling outlet at the Aquarium.

After graduating from Kailua High School, Deb furthered her career focusing on medicine. However, her long-held dream of becoming a marine biologist remained a cherished ambition. After retiring, she seized the opportunity to dive into the world of marine biology through volunteer work at the Aquarium.

As a General Aquarist Assistant Volunteer in the Live Exhibits department, Deb helps with maintaining and feeding a variety of exhibits including Edge of the Reef, juvenile porcupinefish in the Miniature Marine Life exhibit, anemones in Galleries 1 and 2, as well as the chocolate chip sea star and carpet anemone in the Mangrove exhibit. One of Deb's most memorable experiences was learning how to target feed the porcupinefish while all the other Edge of the Reef fish were distracted. Her time volunteering has allowed her to develop a deep care for the animals at the Aquarium.

To learn more about how you can become a volunteer, scan the QR code or visit waikikiaquarium.org/support/volunteer/.

RESEARCH SPOTLIGHT

JULIO LEMUS

Name: Julio Lemus

Position: Former Student Aquarist

Favorite Marine Animal: My favorite marine animal is the Giant Trevally (Ulua Aukea). It's the most powerful reef fish and I love large predators. They are also a sign of a healthy reef ecosystem.

What were your previous roles and responsibilities at the Waikīkī Aquarium?

During my time as a student aquarist at the Waikīkī Aquarium, I cared for a wide variety of tanks and marine species. My supervisor, Tony, recognized my enthusiasm and skill, which led to opportunities to take on additional responsibilities. I helped maintain the live feeds production and cleaned multiple tanks, including the large shark exhibit, and collected fish and invertebrates for display. Each day brought new tasks, from bagging fish for shipment to maintaining UV light filters, giving me a broad spectrum of aquarist knowledge over my ten months there before graduating from the University of Hawai'i.

What sparked your interest in your field of study?

I've been a saltwater aquarium hobbyist since the age of ten. I've maintained multiple mixed reef tanks over the years and currently manage a 10-gallon nano reef tank. My passion for the hobby led me to pursue a bachelor's degree in marine biology, where I gained professional husbandry experience.

Can you tell us about your recent research cruise with the UH Mānoa Dive Office?

I was onboarded as a research assistant and scientific diver for the Larvae Across the Pacific research cruise onboard the RV Thompson, where we explored Wake Island and Johnston Atoll.

What was the purpose of the cruise? What are some key insights?

The purpose of the cruise was to provide new and comprehensive insights into the historic and potential future role of these two places as biological stepping-stones for movement of marine species between the Hawaiian Islands and other archipelagoes of the North Pacific Ocean.

Thousands of tissue samples from multiple species of urchins are still being processed and no conclusions can be drawn yet but hopefully soon.

Why do you think people should support the Waikīkī Aquarium?

I think the Waikīkī Aquarium is an invaluable resource to get the local and foreign community excited about Hawaiian ocean creatures, as well as teach them about its diversity and vulnerability along the way.
